

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter of recommendation for Taylor Holloway, who was a member of my campaign for the United States Congress in West Virginia's 3rd District. During his time with us Taylor played an important role in many different facets of the campaign, including Cyber Security, Digital Media, and Systems Administration. His dependability in accomplishing what is needed at any time is matched only by his readiness to go above and beyond what is asked of him.

His Cyber Security work included supporting our Digital Director in providing a security checklist of safe ways to communicate and interact with other members of the campaign. He also utilized real-world security simulation using the email addresses of the entire campaign staff, to test those associated with the campaign and check how people would react given a real threat.

For our campaign's Digital Media, Mr. Holloway accomplished something the rest of the digital team thought couldn't be done. He created a searchable index from a giant media library of me on Facebook, speaking to the great people of West Virginia. Thanks to Taylor's tremendous work, which required an enormous amount of time and effort, my campaign staff had a ready-to-go searchable database of video transcripts from which they can easily narrow in on key issues and choose the video clips and transcripts with very little effort. No one asked Taylor to stay at the office all night to get this project done. He took that initiative and put in the extra time because he knew it would make a difference.

Finally, for every website, social media page, and software client used or developed by the campaign, Mr. Holloway had administrative access so he could manage all of the tools that we used. Anyone with that much responsibility in my campaign had to be someone I could depend upon, and someone I could trust. Moreover, on a congressional campaign where things move so quickly, our administrator also had to take care of business ASAP. Taylor Holloway demonstrated to me that he is just that person – responsible, trustworthy and capable of working in a fast-paced environment.

I am very pleased to provide this strong recommendation for Taylor Holloway. If there are any further questions regarding Taylor's abilities, work ethic, or recommendation, do not hesitate to contact me at the information provided.

Sincerely,

Senator Richard Ojeda, II
